Empowering a community of learners and leaders

I hope you all had a great Thanksgiving Break. Everyone came back looking refreshed from the five days off! The cold weather is here so please make sure your child is coming to school with the proper clothing for Wyoming weather. We will be outside as much as possible as we will follow the inclement weather protocol from the school district. I am continuing the work to get wind block on the playground, you will see some on the corner of the playground by the pick up area and the shed for shelter. This is slowly coming together.

In addition to cold weather, it is that time of year where germs are everywhere, students are needing good rest to support any germs they might be trying to fight off. Handwashing is important to support this as well. Encourage your child to wash regularly. These two things will support everyone in staying healthy so they are able to be well enough for learning.

This month our drill focus will bring us back to our ALICE training. We will be discussing/reviewing ALICE and then using this learning to support us in making a decision on three different scenarios. There will be an announcement that states the scenario, we will pause for classes to discuss what their response would be and then a debrief of what should be done if that scenario were to happen. This will happen three times over the intercom so all students will participate with their teacher in this learning. We will not be truly evacuating the building just walking through what response we would have to the scenario. Please contact your child's teacher if you have questions about this drill.

Winter holiday parties will be held on December 19th at the end of the school day. The communication for this small celebration will come from your child's classroom. We will continue our work in all content areas until parties in order to maintain learning in all classrooms.

Next week we have another family event and this time it is sponsored by our ELA (English Language Arts) Team at Sagewood. We have set this event up at the Public Library on Tuesday, December 4th from 5:30-6:30 in the Crawford Room. You're invited to come enjoy cocoa, cookies and comprehension with your family, other Sagewood families and staff. You will be able to decorate your own cookies from Eileen's, sip on some cocoa and enjoy a good book or two. If you haven't signed up for a library card there will be an opportunity for you to do this as well. We hope you will join us for this fun family event and please contact the office if you have any questions.

Due to the family event on Tuesday night there is no PTO meeting for the month of December. I hope to see you all on Tuesday night and I wish you all a happy and safe holiday season.

:) Mrs. Lavin
